

Governor brings "Jobs for Iowa Tour" to town

(DES MOINES)—Gov. Terry E. Branstad and Lt. Gov. Kim Reynolds last week announced they will continue with their fourth week of town hall meetings as part of their "Jobs for Iowa" tour.

"The 'Jobs for Iowa' tour has given Lieutenant Governor Reynolds and me the opportunity to listen to the ideas of Iowans," said Branstad. "Today we are pleased to announce that the tour will continue next Friday with stops across Southeast Iowa. We look forward to traveling to these communities and sharing our plans for job creation in Iowa."

The Branstad-Reynolds jobs plan includes: Cutting Iowa corporate income tax rates in half, which currently has the highest top rate in the country; Bringing commercial property taxes to 60 percent of value, down from the current rate of 100 percent. Commercial property in Des Moines pays more tax than similar property in New York City, Chicago, Kansas City and Philadelphia. Rural areas face similar odds against their counterparts nationwide; Remaking the Department of Economic Development into a 21st Century public-private partnership that works with businesses to create jobs; A sunset of rules and regulations every four years to determine their effectiveness, and have a jobs-impact statement with every new proposal that affects economic growth in Iowa; Touring the country and world in search of new jobs for the state of Iowa.

The following events are free and open to the public:

Celebrating 70 years together

By Carmen Lawrence
Gazette Staff

The average life expectancy for a human being is 73 years of age. Most of us would feel privileged to even live that long. Now, imagine being married to the same person for 70 years of your life. It almost boggles the mind, but that is exactly what Lewis and Romelle Dallmeyer of rural Columbus Junction have achieved. On Tuesday, March 1, 2011, the couple quietly celebrated their 70th wedding anniversary with a family dinner held in their honor. The Dallmeyers are not ones to brag about their achievements, but when the Columbus Gazette heard of their milestone, we just had to announce it to the world.

On March 1, 1941, Lewis and Romelle (Richardson) Dallmeyer were united in marriage in Kahoka, MO, in a church that wasn't heated, so the ceremony was in the manse. They only had one witness (the minister's wife). I jokingly asked Romelle if they were supposed to have had two witnesses to the nuptials, and she shot right back, "Well, now do you suppose we aren't really married?" I then replied, "I suppose it's too late to try and back out of it now."

The couple was both 19 when they married, and met through Lewis' niece, Jean Meredith. They have lived their entire married lives in the house Lewis was born in (17582 Hwy 92, Columbus Junction, IA 52738). They both worked the family farm until retiring in 2008. The couple has been life-long members of the Pleasant Grove Community Church (where Lewis was recently honored for 73 years of service to his church congregation). They have two daughters, Sandra (Delbert) Reese of Columbus Junction, and Donna (Stephen) Henning of Davenport. They have five grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren, who lovingly refer to them as "Grandma and Grandpa Great."

Lewis is a member of Farm Bureau and Romelle is a member of the Indian Creek Club (a group of neighborhood women). They both were in the Lucky 13 Card Club for over 50 years. Every night, the couple still plays cards (Skipbo) together.

The couple's daughter, Sandra thought that the secret to their long, happy marriage might be the fact that they always made due with what they had. I think it might be the fact that they still enjoy each other's company, as illustrated by their nightly card games. It might also be their collective, wonderful sense of humor. Whatever it is, the rest of Louisa County would be envious to have it. Maybe Lewis and Romelle should come out of retirement and start selling their bottled tap water from their home, and tell the world that that is the secret to their wonderful marriage. Whatever they're doing, it's working and we all want to wish them many more happy years together. Congratulations, Lewis and Romelle!

Gazette Sports Editor receives IHSAA News Media Award

Tammy Virzi, sports editor for the Columbus Gazette, received the IHSAA News Media award last week during the boys' state basketball tournament in Des Moines.

Tammy is a graduate of Columbus Community High School and Iowa State University. In high school she was an outstanding four sport athlete, earning All-State honors in basketball and softball before becoming an All Big 8 Conference softball pitcher for the Cyclones.

At Iowa State she was the editor of the ISU Rodeo Program and the Block and Bridle Yearbook.

She started her career in Illinois and Indiana as the editor of several national publications. In 1988 she returned home as an advertising representative of the Columbus Gazette.

She then started a weekly sports page in the paper and currently is the Sports Editor of The Gazette, proudly covering all Columbus Community Wildcat athletics. She was recently inducted into the Iowa State University Athletic Hall of Fame.

L-M School students hold Falcon Day of Action/Giving

Students (in grades 9-12) and staff will participate in a day of giving (or day of action) within the communities that comprise the Louisa-Muscatine Community School District. Students and staff will work on a variety of charitable activities in and around the school and community during the morning of April 18th (rain date is April 21st). Students along with supervising adults will choose a volunteer opportunity from a variety of community-based options.

Our purpose: Raise awareness of community needs and services that may present future Silver Cord opportunities; Create an atmosphere that promotes teamwork and builds bridges between the school and the community; Present an opportunity for students, staff, and community members to build positive relationships with each other outside of the school setting; Instill - through action - the values of respect and responsibility.

We are looking for volunteer opportunities in the areas of Fruitland, Grandview, and Letts. If you have a need, or know of a worthy project please contact Louisa-Muscatine High School at 319-726-3421 or Barbara Noble at bnoble@louisa-muscatine.k12.ia.us.
